Jewish Community Foundation Welcomes Three New Trustees

West Hartford, CT – The Jewish Community Foundation of Greater Hartford is pleased to welcome three new members to its Board of Trustees: William H. Goldfarb, Morton Handel, and David R. Miller. All three individuals have a record of professional achievement and Jewish community leadership.

William H. Goldfarb is a partner in HRW Resources, a real estate investment and development firm based in Farmington. He lives in Avon with his wife, Maureen. Bill is a life director of Jewish Federation of Greater Hartford. He also serves on the boards of the Kingswood-Oxford School in West Hartford and Colby College in Waterville, Maine.

Morton Handel is chair of the board of Marvel Entertainment and a director of Linens N Things and Trump Entertainment Resorts. He lives in West Hartford with Irma, his wife of 49 years. The Handels are active supporters of the Jewish Association for Community Living and of the University of Hartford, where Mort has been a regent for 14 years.

David R. Miller is a managing director at Conning Asset Management in Hartford. He lives in West Hartford with his wife, Lauri, where they are very active members of Congregation Beth Israel. Dave is also Chair of the Foundation's Investment Committee.

Goldfarb, Handel, and Miller fill the vacancies left by Joseph D. Hurwitz and Robert B. Goldfarb, who retired from the Foundation Board of Trustees this fall, and Jerome E. Caplan, z"l, who passed away in April.

The Jewish Community Foundation of Greater Hartford awards grants, manages endowments, and works creatively with donors to reach their specific charitable objectives. The Foundation holds almost $72 million in assets and awards more than $2.5 million in grants each year. For more information, please call 860.523.7460 or visit our website at www.jcfhartford.org.
